Hurricane Hilda Poses Real Threat To Coast

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 12 (AP)—Hurricane Hilda was born over the Atlantic today, assured of one of the greatest audiences any tropical storm ever played before.

The newly-born hurricane already has caused hurricane warnings to go up along the north shore of the Dominican Republic and over the eastern Bahamas Islands.

At 10 p.m. she was centered about 50 miles southeast of Turks Island near Latitude 20.5 North, Longitude 73 West. The center was expected to pass a short distance south of Turks Island before midnight, bringing gales and heavy squalls to the island.

The Miami Weather Bureau advised caution in other southeastern Bahamas Islands tonight and Tuesday morning. The center of the disturbance was expected to pass close to Acklins, Long Island and Great Exuma Island. The central Bahamas were alerted for Tuesday.

But it is her potentiality concerning the U. S. eastern seaboard that will make Hilda the star of the Meteorological stage for the next few days.

She was born in a critical position, 840 miles east-southeast of Miami and 165 miles southeast of Turks Island at the eastern tip of the Bahamas Island chain.

There are circumstances about her birth that add to the situation. A low pressure trough extends southward from the Cape Hatteras, N. C., area which could attract Hilda. If she connects up with it in the next 24 hours—by Tuesday afternoon—she will change her present west-northwestward course more to the north.

If she misses the trough and continues on her present course, a definite threat to the Florida or Georgia coastline would begin to develop.

A more northerly course would send her along the path followed by the last five hurricanes to strike the eastern seaboard. All of them affected the Northeastern states, some with great wind and flood damage.

Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, said it is too early to tell what Hilda will do.

"The big question at the moment is whether she will connect up with the low pressure trough," he said. "She will have to do it within 24 hours and just now it doesn't appear she is moving quite fast enough to make the connection."

Dam Would Protect Against Normal Flood, Says Engineer

NORMAL FLOOD conditions caused by a rise of the Delaware River could possibly be curtailed if a huge dam were to be erected at Bushkill.

That opinion was made yesterday by John C. Riedel, former chief engineer, New York City Board of Estimates, who spoke at the weekly meeting of the Mount Pocono Rotary Club at Pocono Manor.

Tobyhanna Bill Offered In House

HARRISBURG, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Leader administration tonight introduced legislation in the House that would cede jurisdiction over the Tobyhanna Signal Depot to the United States Government.

The depot covers 1,206 acres in Coolbaugh Twp., Monroe County. The bill, sponsored by Rep. Morris Rosen (D-Phila.),

One limitation on the transfer would be that the state reserves to itself and the political subdivisions whatever power of taxation it may constitutionally reserve to collect all taxes not imposed by the state upon the property within the ceded boundaries.

The act would be effective immediately upon final enactment.

U. S. Awaiting Release Of 41 Americans

GENEVA, Sept. 12 (AP)—Reliable informants said today the United States is awaiting "evidence of good faith" from Red China on the release of American prisoners before discussing other matters with the Peiping delegation here.

Such evidence of good faith would be the arrival in Hong Kong of a substantial number of the 41 American civilians detained for several years in Red China, the informants said.

Chinese Ambassador Wang Pingnan, who has been negotiating here with U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson since Aug. 1, announced last Tuesday that 12 of the Americans against whom no formal charges had been placed are free to leave when they choose.

Will Discuss Other Items

He followed this up Saturday with the announcement that 10 more Americans in prison or under house arrest would be released "within a few days."

A source close to the negotiations said Johnson will not necessarily refuse to discuss other matters with Wang until the other 19 Americans have been freed.

However, an American delegation spokesman said the United States will not regard the question of the prisoners—first item on the agreed agenda—closed until "all American civilians who wish to return from China are able to do so."

Flood Aid Has Cost Red Cross $280,977 To Date

SCRANTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Red Cross state disaster headquarters announced here today that a total of $280,977 has been spent for flood relief in Pennsylvania.

At the peak of the emergency period, 1,817 persons were housed in 36 Red Cross shelters across the state.

Gen. Sturgis To Inspect Damages Here

LT. GEN. Samuel Sturgis, chief of engineers, Department of the Army, will make an on-the-scene survey of flood damages in Monroe County during the latter part of this week.

Gen. Sturgis will be in contact with Rep. Francis E. Walter in Washington yesterday. He informed Walter that he will review contracts already let in this area and check general contract proposals.

According to Capt. Keith Comstock, commanding officer of the Stroudsburg area office, Corps of Engineers, Gen. Sturgis will fly to this area after making an aerial and ground tour of flood-damaged sites in New England.

Included in the local tour will be stops at primary damage areas throughout the creek-bed regions heavily hit by the August 18 flood.

Georgia Man Heads Fish Commission

HARRISBURG, Sept. 12 (AP)—William Voigt Jr. of Blackshear, Ga., today was named executive director of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission at a salary of $12,500, effective immediately.

Voigt's election to the post was made today by the commission at its semi-annual meeting here. He succeeds Charles A. French, who held the post from its establishment in 1949.

The new director of the Commonwealth's multi-million dollar fish program recently retired as executive director of the Izak Walton League of America. He presently operates a farm near Blackshear.

House Rejects Sharing Of Fines

HARRISBURG, Sept. 12 (AP)—The House tonight voted down a Republican proposed amendment to alter an administration backed bill to make local municipalities split receipts from truck overloading and auto speeding fines with the state.

Under a bipartisan bill advanced into position for a possible final vote tomorrow, the state Motor License Fund would receive 50 percent of all fines imposed for overloading trucks, speeding violations and another section authorizing special permits for overloaded or oversized vehicles.

It was the first time in 25 days that anything but work trains had moved on the DL and W's severely-damaged tracks through this region.

The first train to be taken back to Hoboken was a coal train. It had been stranded on the night of Aug. 18 on tracks east of Henryville.

Three Levies To Yield Over 264 Million

HARRISBURG, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Republican-controlled Senate Finance Committee, in a surprise move, tonight approved renewal of 276 million dollars in business taxes.

The House-passed levies, featuring the 5 per cent corporate income tax, had been stalled in the Senate unit since Feb. 1. No immediate explanation was offered for the surprise action.

Republicans previously contended these levies would remain pigeonholed until an over, all tax program is devised.

237 Millions Yield

The corporate income tax would yield more than 237 millions in the current two-year fiscal period. The other measures would continue for two more years the temporary six-mill aspect of the 14-mill gross receipts tax to yield 11 millions and postpone for another two years the manufacturers exemption from the 5-mill capital stock tax to bring in 28 millions.

The committee approval came after Republican and Democrats tabled further tax compromise discussions for a week pending a report on the commonwealth's $1,500,000,000 budget by the Pennsylvania Economy League.

Gov. Leader made the proposal and Republicans accepted the idea of using the league's findings as a basis for deciding upon a budget.

Now-Partisan Group

The league is a non-partisan, non-profit private agency which has analyzed state and municipal operations with the objective of efficient government. It is financed largely by contributions from big industrial firms.

"To my knowledge, the league has worked with members of both parties and has our mutual confidence," said Leader. "It was accepted by previous administrations as a source of unbiased factual data."

The governor made the proposal at a fourth meeting of Republican and Democratic legislative leaders seeking to devise a solution to the tax impasse.

Sen. Rowland B. Mahany, GOP floor leader, said later Republicans accepted the idea and suggested that all decisions on taxes and budget cuts be held up until next Monday.

Report To Committee

The league is expected to make its report to the tax compromise committee by then.

Leader told Mahany and Rep. Charles C. Smith, House Republican floor leader and the only other Republican to attend the session, that it was necessary that a bi-partisan agreement be reached on the amount of money needed to finance the budget.

Fire Causes Heavy Loss

TOWANDA, Sept. 12 (AP)—A roaring, uncontrolled fire today wrecked the Towanda Textile Co. plant in this northern Pennsylvania community, causing damage estimated at $500,000.

The estimate came from co-owner Morton Kalin and Barnett Kernoff.

The flames started in the electrical wiring which powered the silk-weaving machines housed in the brick building in the northern part of town.

About 100 of the firm's 240 employees were on duty at the time. All escaped without injury.

The fire cast a black, acrid pall of smoke over the northern half of the city causing the closing of the Towanda High School an hour ahead of schedule.

Scientist Drowns

LONG BRANCH, N.J., Sept. 12 (AP)—Walter N. Brown Jr., of State College, Pa., a scientist, was drowned today in the surf here.

Train—Train No. 57—which was isolated by flood waters at Cresco that same night. Passengers from this train were evacuated to Pocono Manor by helicopter and other vehicles in one of the most spectacular rescues of the disaster.

To make it possible for the trains to move railroad crewmen had constructed a temporary bridge across Broadheads Creek near the site of Bell's Bridge. Bell's was totally demolished by the flood.

Robert Busch, a member of the Lackawanna's staff of engineers at the Scranton office, said

Russo-German Conferences Have Produced No Results

By Stanley Johnson

MOSCOW, Sept. 12 (AP)—A West German delegate said tonight Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's conference with Soviet leaders to establish normal relations between their governments has produced nothing.

Carlo Schmid, Socialist member of Adenauer's group, spoke to reporters outside the Kremlin palace after a lavish two-hour banquet where Adenauer exchanged smiling toasts with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party chief Nikita Khrushchev.

"The results of this conference are absolutely zero," Schmid said.

Still At Starting Point

Earlier, German press spokesman Felix von Eckardt commented: "We are now just where we started."

After the banquet, however, Von Eckardt said Bulganin and Adenauer had conversations at the dinner table which "may give tomorrow's meeting a certain lift."

He added that Adenauer, who talked with his top aides in his private railroad train after the banquet, was trying to arrange a meeting with Bulganin tomorrow morning before the regular conference session opens.

Fail To Agree

Adenauer and Bulganin met during the afternoon to hear separate reports on an earlier meeting of their foreign ministers which lasted an hour and a half. There was no news briefing after the Adenauer-Bulganin session because the Russians and Germans apparently could not agree on a statement to the press.

Bulganin's toast at tonight's banquet was the first. He called Adenauer's journey to Moscow important to world peace and said, "I am of the opinion that everything ends well. With patience and work, you can do everything."

As the banquet ended, Adenauer and Bulganin embraced.

But it was clear that they and their aides had got nowhere toward achieving the conference goal.

Mrs. Silver Ruled Unfit To Testify

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12 (AP)—Three psychiatrists, two of them appointed by the state, agreed today that Mrs. Gertrude Silver was not competent to face charges of conspiracy and of being an accessory to the abortion death of her daughter.

All three recommended that she undergo psychiatric treatment immediately.

Tonight, at the request of Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash, Magistrate Elias Myers issued warrants for the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz in whose apartment Mrs. Silver's daughter, Mrs. Doris Jean Ostreicher, died Aug. 24.

Warrants Issued

The warrants, charging abortion resulting in death, conspiracy and perjury, were given to detectives of the homicide squad to serve. It was reported that William A. Gray, the Schwartz' attorney, would accept service in his office in the morning.

At the same time Myers, who held Mrs. Silver on $1,500 bail, set a hearing for the Schwartzes "around noon" tomorrow.

The testimony of the three psychiatrists wound up the brief hearing before Myers who, after freeing Mrs. Silver on bail for further hearing at an unspecified date, said that the defendant should stay in a mental hospital until she is able to comprehend the charges against her.

Directorship Favors Other Housing Plans

POCONO Mountains Chamber of Commerce yesterday went on record as opposing "shoe box" or "packing crate" housing for families left homeless by the recent flood.

At one of the best-attended meetings in recent months, directors aimed their opposition at the proposal to bring trailers into the area for temporary housing unless, the directors agreed, no other alternative can be found.

The Federal government has indicated it will supply the house trailers without charge to disaster-stricken areas. But it is not clear who would bear the expense of installing sanitary and other facilities.

Money For Housing

Harold A. Swenson, the Chamber's executive secretary, disclosed that directors are opposed to spending on trailers any large amount of funds which could be applied as a down-payment on a good housing project.

The Chamber fears that once the Army type trailers are in, it would be difficult to get them out, Swenson explained.

He noted that the Vacation Bureau has offered to turn over under Red Cross supervision necessary space at area resorts as temporary shelter for flood victims.

To study the problem further, directors yesterday appointed the following to serve on a housing committee.

Walter Peeney, chairman; Ted Huffman, Clifford Cramer, Jere Stofflet, Paul Edinger, Adolph Rake, Harvey Huffman, Harold Rinker, Arthur Henning, Russell Reimer, Harford Cleveland and Leroy Mikels.

Dam Project Endorsed

In other action, directors endorsed the Wallenpaupack dam proposal, which, they said, was in keeping with the wishes of residents of the Bushkill area.

The Chamber wired Gov. George M. Leader informing him of its endorsement of the proposal.

Directors recognized that such a project will take several years to complete.

Earlier, Francis A. Pitkin, chairman of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River, quoted the Governor as saying that it is currently impossible to foresee when acquisition of land and construction of the dam might be started.

The board also discussed embarking on a large-scale publicity program aimed at promoting the "Pocono Comeback Story."

Cost Set At $2,000

Swenson said such a program would cost a minimum of $2,000 and would be geared to get the rehabilitation story across in large metropolitan areas.

A committee, which will work jointly with the Vacation Bureau, was named to work on the public relations project. Members are Merle Ostrom, chairman; J. L. Cohen, H. G. Sanborn and Jack Kerlin.

Army Drops Case Against Former POWs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Army said today it has dropped the cases of 48 more former prisoners of war suspected of collaborating with their Communist captors in Korea. Investigations disclosed no basis for action.

This brings to 235 the number of cases in which Army investigators found insufficient evidence for action out of an original total of 426.

Army boards, to which investigators referred over 100 cases, have cleared six suspects and 62 have been discharged from the service.

Nine men have gone on trial by court-martials. Seven were convicted and two acquitted.

The Army still has 54 cases pending under investigation or trial.

Out of 4,428 prisoners who survived Communist captivity the conduct of 525 Army, Air Force and Marine POWs was questioned. The Navy had suffered no prisoners.

ME Signs More Contracts For New Generating Plant

METROPOLITAN EDISON CO. reconfirmed to the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce yesterday that it was carrying through all contracts on the new generating plant located near Portland, Pa.

In a conversation with Harold Swenson, executive secretary of recent flood has not changed their plans in the least and that they were signing contracts continually. "In fact, we need water in our business," explained Mr. Titus. The project is located on a 132-acre tract south of the Portland-Columbia toll bridge. It is bordered by the Lackawanna Railroad on the west and the Delaware River on the east.

Ready In 1958
The first unit of the project is scheduled for commercial operation by April 1, 1958. This initial unit will cost in excess of $25 million.

M. F. Crowe, Chamber president, added the erection of a generating plant of this size will assure local industries of all the power they may need and still open the way for a greater industrial development of the entire area.

"We have figured that when power is made available from this plant we'll have a larger source of economical electric power than any similar-sized section in the entire country," Crowe said.

Rabies Check Urged In Case Of Dog-Bite

THE IMPORTANCE of examination of dogs which have bitten people was stressed yesterday by Dr. Frederick Jones, county medical director, after a number of dog bite cases this summer.

A dog which has bitten anyone should be tied at home for observation for 14 days and then checked by a veterinarian to rule out chances that the dog has rabies. In cases where the dog is destroyed after biting someone, he asks that the head be preserved intact so that it can be examined for symptoms of rabies.

Sleeping On Tummy May Make Baby Pigeon-Toed

By Frank Carey
Associated Press Science Reporter
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12 (AP)—Too much tummy-down sleeping may make a baby flat-footed or pigeon-toed, an Atlanta surgeon said today.

Dr. Joseph H. Kite offered this theory to an American-Canadian sectional convention of the International College of Surgeons. He said prevention might be achieved by training the baby to snooze in various positions, preferably on his side.

Rolling up a baby blanket "like a log" and placing it against the infant's back is a good way to keep him on his side, said Dr. Kite, adding that the position should be alternated from side to side after each feeding.

"The babies with the pigeon toe deformity," he said, "sleep in the knee-chest position with their knees up under them, and their hips up in the air. The weight comes on the feet which are turned in. At other times they may sleep with the legs extended, but with the feet turned in."

"Those babies with flat feet sleep on the abdomen with their legs abducted ninety degrees into a frog or 'spread-eagle' position. The babies who alternate and sleep in both positions may have normal rotation of the legs and normal feet."

Judge Davis Receives Four Pleas Of Guilty, Imposes Fines

Court Orders Revocation Of Jury Venires

PRESIDENT JUDGE Fred W. Davis yesterday revoked the venire of petit and traverse jurors for the September session of Monroe County Court.

In his revocation order, Judge Davis noted that "the ends of justice would be served" if the venire issued May 9 was to be set aside and vacated.

"The Sheriff is directed to notify all persons summoned as petit and traverse jurors of the revocation of the venire," said the court, "and their services will not be required at the September sessions of court."

Revoked Grand Jury Panel

Earlier, Judge Davis called off the September grand jury session because of conditions resulting from the recent flood.

Several defendants entered pleas on various charges before Judge Davis yesterday.

Edward Smith, East Stroudsburg was given a suspended sentence and placed on four-months probation on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while his license was under suspension. He also was fined $150 and costs to be paid within four months.

A $300 fine was imposed upon pleaded guilty to a drunken driving complaint, growing out of a traffic mishap on Main St., in Stroudsburg last Spring. He also was ordered to pay costs.

Placed On Probation

Joseph Baszewsky, Philadelphia, also was ordered to pay a $300 fine and costs on a drunken driving charge. The defendant, placed on probation for nine months, was involved in an accident at Fern Ridge.

Also fined $300 and costs on a drunken driving complaint was Arthur C. Cramer Jr., East Stroudsburg.

The case of Romolo Sonsini Jr., Philadelphia, charged with a morals offense, was called yesterday, but the defendant was not present. The case was then carried over to the December grand jury session.

The name of Donald Van Why, East Stroudsburg, also was called yesterday. However, Van Why was not present at that time to answer to a drunken driving complaint.

Bridge Worker Hurt In Fall

A 43-YEAR-OLD Elizabethville construction worker was injured yesterday afternoon when he plunged from the site of Stites Bridge where he was working.

John Richter, the worker, was taken to General Hospital. He was admitted for treatment of multiple cuts and possible fractured ribs.

Hospital authorities said last night that Richter's condition was satisfactory and that he was "resting comfortably."

The Stites Bridge was badly washed out by the Aug. 18 flood and the area around the bridge was severely battered. Construction workers are attempting to put up a temporary bridge across the area.

Seven Named As Trustees At Farview

GOV. GEORGE M. LEADER yesterday appointed seven new members of the board of trustees of the Farview State Hospital, none of whom are from Monroe County, which has been represented on the board for many years.

The nominations went to the Senate for confirmation. However, there were indications that each of the appointees will be carefully screened. Sen. William Z. Scott, R., Lansford in whose Senatorial district Farview is located indicated there will be no confirmation by the Senate until all the appointees are "screened."

R. LeRoy Dengler, owner of Hawthorne Inn and a Republican, is chairman of the board of trustees at Farview. He has been on the board nine years.

Nine On Board

Total membership of the board is supposed to be nine. With seven new appointees, either two more are to be made or two of the incumbents may remain undisturbed. This appeared unlikely in view of recent concerted pressures to change the entire complexion of the board.

There are now only four members on the board, all Republicans. In addition to Dengler, they are: Carl Krautter, Newfoundland, vice chairman; Roy Howe, Lake Ariel, secretary and Dr. James Colton, Forest City, treasurer.

These four now hold a status as trustees "until their successors are appointed and confirmed."

Board Meets Thursday

There is a meeting of the Farview board scheduled for Thursday. Lack of Senate confirmation of Leader's seven new appointees will mean they will be unable to officially attend the meeting.

Four of the seven new appointees are from Lackawanna County, one from Wayne, one from Wyoming and one from Susquehanna. They are:

Raymond C. Schweighofer, Honesdale; J. Mark Robinson, Tunkhannock; Frank Zazera, Carbondale; Leonard Walsh, Carbondale; Carl Franceski, Forest City; Stephen Klehart, Mayfield, and Eugene A. Collieran, Jessup.

Teaching Of Fundamentals, Willingness To Pay Cost Of High-Grade Instruction

There was a time, long ago, when high schools offered courses mainly in the "classical" subjects — languages, mathematics, science and the like. That was when most of the students expected to go on to college.

The role of the high school changed with the higher compulsory education age which brought huge increases in high school enrollment. And with that change came the teaching of subjects for young people who expected to go to work after high school.

The high schools have met the needs of this changed condition admirably, but somewhere along the line we've lost some of the benefits of classical education and now will have to gain them back.

So, we come to 1955, and on the authority of Dr. Webster N. Jones, vice president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, five out of every six applicants for that top engineering school are turned down. A major reason is: Not enough mathematics and science in high school.

There's also some concern about this situation: Russia places heavy emphasis on technological training and now turns out 50,000 engineers a year. Our institutions of higher education turn out fewer than 25,000.

Dr. Jones says that the training of an engineer begins in the high school—in ninth grade. Yet almost half of the nation's high schools, according to one report, no longer have formal courses in geometry, physics and chemistry.

Federal officials say only 20 per cent of today's high school students study algebra, eight per cent study chemistry and five per cent study physics.

One sprag in the effort to better the preparation of high school students is an acute shortage of teachers qualified to teach science subjects. Private industry, with its higher pay, is taking the college graduates who otherwise might turn to teaching careers.

Something is being done about this, too. The Carnegie Corp. has given $300,000 to a group of scientists and teachers who are looking for a solution to the teacher shortage. Other educational groups also are studying the problem.

Parents can help in this effort by studying the courses offered in the schools attended by their children, encouraging the teaching of the fundamentals—and by being willing to pay the cost of high-grade instruction.

Legislative Wrangle Puts People In State To Accept Annual Session Proposal

The annual session proposal is a little more confusing than the usual run of legislation.

And an amendment to the State Constitution requires passage at two consecutive sessions of the General Assembly and then approval by the people at a state-wide referendum.

Such legislation to put our Legislature on an annual meeting basis, instead of every two years as now, already has cleared one session. If it were to pass at the current session, the proposal then would be set up for a popular vote in 1957 and could go into effect in '58. It's too late now to get it on the ballot this year. A Republican controlled Senate committee bottled up the measure, refusing to release it for a floor vote in time to meet the November ballot deadline. For that matter, it's still bottled up.

After watching the current rop of legislators wrangle for eight long months and get no place, weary and disgusted Pennsylvanians are willing now to okay just about anything—anything that will force their representatives and senators to cut out the shenanigans, get down to business, and get back home.

George Sokolsky Says...

It Is To Interest Of United States To Maintain Status Quo In World

There are two ways of looking at all so-called international questions: One is to view every question from the standpoint of a particular nation other than the United States; the other is to attempt to view problems from the standpoint of the United States. There are those who try to have what they believe to be a universal position without any regard to any particular country. I do not understand how this is accomplished intellectually or emotionally.

Turkey is a specific American problem as long as the United States continues to pursue the Truman-Acheson "Containment Policy," which the Eisenhower Administration has finally settled for after experimenting in other directions. Our object seems to be to contain the Soviet Universal State within its present boundaries and at Geneva, the Russians apparently accepted that program for the present. Turkey and Greece are two anchors of the "Containment Policy." Both are important and if these countries destroyed their alliance with each other and with the United States, it would be harmful to the United States. Both countries are in NATO and are, with Yugoslavia, combined into the Balkan Alliance. They ought to remain that way from the standpoint of the best interests of the United States and the peace of the world.

Unfortunately these relations are disturbed over Cyprus, an island which is predominantly Greek by language and religion but which lies hard by the shores of Turkey like a cork in a bottle. In the hands of an enemy of Turkey, Cyprus can totally neutralize that country and destroy its economy.

Cyprus is now a British Colony and the Turks would prefer to keep it that way. So would the United States. Despite all the agitation to the contrary, it is probable that the wisest men in Greece realize how dangerous it is to disturb the world over Cyprus, but the agitation for uniting Cyprus with Greece has become so potent that no public man in Greece dares to present all the dangers of unnecessary change at this time. Premier Adnan Menderes of Turkey has this to say on the subject:

"To those who, on the strength of their handful of a majority in Cyprus want to create fresh problems for the world, we are compelled to ask 'What was their business on the outskirts of Ankara?' It must be clear to all that a large part of the Turkish coast is surrounded by fortresses belonging to other countries observing and threatening us. Cyprus is at present a safe area, but in this regard, Cyprus is an extension of Anatolia and it forms one of the essential points of its security."

"If a change is therefore contemplated in the status of the island, this change must be based not on ethnic grounds, but on other much more important facts and realities and it must be returned to Turkey. Our delegation which is going to London will defend the maintenance of the status quo as a minimum condition. The maintenance of the status quo is the only way in which all kinds of differences can be solved."

Turkey does not wish to fight over Cyprus or annex it, but there is little question that Turkey will fight if Cyprus is to be transferred from Great Britain to Greece. It would be a pity if two fine peoples, our allies, get into a war and what is more, should such a war occur, the United States could not long be neutral. It would be forced by all the circumstances of our relations with Great Britain to support Turkey in this quarrel. And that would have to happen despite the enormous Greek population in the United States which would protest such action. It would be preferable to keep the status quo until major problems are solved. In his statement, the Turkish Premier said:

"But I wish to make a definite statement to the effect that this country will not tolerate in any way any changes in the status quo of Cyprus, either now or in the future, which would prejudice the interests of our country."

Our problem is peace. Great wars often start from small wars and even smaller events. It is to the interest of the United States to maintain the status quo in the world as long as possible—and that is never too long.

SEPTEMBER OFFICE MOOD
"Take an outboard motor, Miss Twipsy! ... a big pardon ... I mean take a letter ... Smith, Wiggins & Canoe ... no, that last name can't be right ... Just a minute! ... What? ... S. o. m. e. b. o. d. y. wants me on the surfboard? ... Oh, you said the telephone! ... What horsepower? ... I mean what name? ... Tell 'em to call me back at high tide ... No, not that ... Call me back this afternoon when I won't be in ... What am I saying? ... Where are you, Miss Twipsy? ... Stop diving underwater that way ... What water? ... (Miss Twipsy the office stenog reminded the boss that it was September, that summer was over and that he was back on the job now. But it was in vain.)

"Where was I? ... Oh, I remember ... Somewhere between a letter a phone call and a cross current ... To whom was I writing? ... Oh, yes, Smith, Yawl, Schooner & Sundeck ... Somehow that doesn't sound right ... Gentlemen ... In reply to your porch music of the 25th ... Strike that ... In reply to your letter of the 25th requesting quotation on our beach parties, hammocks, rods, reels, whitecaps and frankfurters ... Oh, no, there must be some mistake, Miss Twipsy, and what are you doing with clothes on instead a sarong and brassiere? ... (The stenographer, just back, too, from the summer vacation, pleaded "Please, you're in September now. Try to concentrate.")

"Port your helm! ... Mind the red buoy! ... Let's get on with this clam bake! ... this letter, I should say ... Ready? ... And remember it's fifty yards to the float and back, with no handi-caps ... In reply to your communication asking for our prices on mosquito netting, sunburn lotions, grommets, et cetera I am happy to state that our new line of shore resort romances, moonlight adventures and outdoor grills is the best on the market and can be supplied with corn-on-the-coat, clam fritters, souvenir postcards, snakebite cures and sunburn poisoning antidotes, weather permitting and if not I'll see you on the veranda in half an hour ... What? ... The phone again? ... Plain or on the rocks? ... Remind me to have my Bermuda pressed ... Who? ... Tell 'em to call me back when the water is warmer ... You've got sand in your ears, Miss Twipsy."

(Miss Twipsy tried valiantly to make it clear to the boss that he was definitely back from the vacation place and that the summer of 1955 was done for ... "Let's get on with the letter," she urged.)

"Okay, you jump in first and I'll follow ... Mind the surf and undertow! ... Just wind up the letter to Cripps, Monahan, Tennis & Blondie in your own way ... Sign it with my full name, O. Howe Lacadaisical for the Buggs, Lieguard, Mambo & Nosepeel Corporation ... No ... Where am I? And if so throw me a life preserver."

"Pull yourself together and face autumn," said Miss Twipsy. "You take this carlock and I'll use a paddle and see what we can do. Heavens! You've got me talking that way, too!"

High-Finance Quiz Show Shows Up Tax Squeeze

For the first time citizens in the lower income brackets are getting a punch-packing education in the effects of the graduated income tax on individual initiative and enterprise.

I dare say the producers of the $64,000. Question program never thought of it as a venture in educational television. Such people are inclined to think of educational television as something delicate and hifalutin, in which any mention of cash money would be vulgarly inappropriate.

But that king-size quiz program is teaching millions of heretofore disinterested people some of the facts of life in the field of taxation. The thing has been going for several weeks now and up to the time this is written none of the contestants who got up to the $32,000 level has seen fit to make a stab at the $64,000. (Up to a mere $32,000, of course, who cares?)

This is probably not because they were altogether lacking in confidence in their ability to answer the big question. The odds against their being able to do that are precisely the same as if the top prize were $6,400, or 64 cents.

The difference is that they have to risk more money on the gamble. The contestant who has cleared the $32,000 hurdle has in the neighborhood of $23,000 to spend as he chooses and another $9,000 for his Uncle Sam to spend.

If he tries for the additional $32,000 and makes it, he gets to keep only $10,000 or so of it. The rest goes to Uncle Sam.

If he tries for it and misses, he loses the $23,000 he already has—less the value of an expensive car he'd probably have to sell to pay the taxes on it.

There's an old saw to the effect that people who expect something for nothing are foolish. But they aren't that foolish.

What happens at that point is that the graduated income tax has destroyed the man's incentive to invest—or, as they say on the market pages, has "discouraged venture capital."

Now, mind you, this fellow got his capital in the first place by telling who wrote "The Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin" or some such relatively effortless stunt. If the tax picture takes away his appetite for further gambling, what do you suppose it does for the man who had to work hard to accumulate his capital?

Right, he too is strongly inclined to hang onto what he has got and not gamble any more on risky ventures that might create the jobs to pay the wages that buy the TV sets that let the answer sharks know there's a $64,000 question to answer.

In short, this high-financing quiz show is demonstrating that poor men do about the same thing wealthy men do when put in the same squeeze. Only they aren't squeezing as many others when they do it.

Kentucky Democrats Split Over Election Of Governor

Robert S. Allen is on vacation. In his absence, his column today is written by a leading Kentucky newspaperman about the dramatic gubernatorial battle in progress there. Norman Isaacs, Managing Editor, The Louisville Times, in a terse, cold turkey report, forecasts the likely outcome of this bitter campaign and why.

By Norman Isaacs
Managing Editor, The Louisville Times

Louisville, Ky., September 12 —Kentucky Democrats are going into an election for governor November 8 split bitterly among themselves.

But even with this feuding, it seems that little short of a political miracle will keep A. B. (Happy) Chandler from being elected over his Republican opponent, Edwin L. Denney.

Chandler's victory last month over the regular Democratic machine was an upset of far-reaching proportions. His election as governor may have even more effect on the national political scene than it will have on his home state.

For one thing, as governor Chandler will control the state's delegation to the Democratic national convention next year. He is known to be anti-Stevenson and in the 1952 convention supported Senator Richard Russell of Georgia. In 1948, Chandler was allied with the Dixiecrats. In short, Kentucky's delegation now becomes an unknown factor in the 1956 convention.

Further, Chandler during the heated primary campaign proclaimed his intentions of getting rid of Senator Earle C. Clements, the acting majority leader of that chamber. There is little doubt that the former baseball commissioner will try to do just that.

Kentucky Republicans are more hopeful about next year's Senate race than about the governorship contest this November.

Many of them are hoping that Assistant Secretary of State Thurston B. Morton will run for the Senate seat. Morton is able, handsome, popular, and an Eisenhower supporter from the start.

In 1952, Stevenson carried Kentucky by only 700 votes. Republicans now believe Eisenhower can carry the state in 1956. Anticipating that the President will run again, GOP leaders grow positively cheerful about their chances next year with Morton running for the Senate.

There is no such optimism about the governor race, Denney is a big quiet, former U. S. Attorney at Lexington. He is conservative in most things—in his political attitudes, his dress, his speech, and in general demeanor.

In Chandler, he is opposing one of the great political fakirs of the day, a noisy, rough-and-tumble campaigner who worries little about either basic issues or the truth.

During the primary, Chandler kept saying that a rug in the governor's office cost $20,000 although the contract figures showed $2,700 for the entire executive suite. He talked constantly about a $25,000,000 stadium at the new fairgrounds in Louisville, for which the contract price was something around $2,000,000.

He indicated to a reporter privately during the campaign that he knew what the facts were, but he grinned and added: "But, boy, they sure eat it up, don't they?"

Chandler's way of campaigning is by name-calling, raising straw men, singing, by appealing to all sorts of local prejudices and complaints. He varies his "sales pitch" with each county seat. He sets himself up as all things to all men.

Denney is too much the gentleman to resort to this type of brawling, and the campaign probably will be furious on one side only—Chandler's.

While the leaders of the regular Democratic faction have expressed their party loyalty, they have done it with a lack of enthusiasm that indicates a good many of them will drag their feet in the contest.

But even in the face of this, it appears doubtful that Denney has sufficient appeal to lure enough "protest votes" to make it a close race. A more liberal and better known Republican like Ambassador John Sherman Cooper might stand a chance, but Denney is neither liberal, nor widely known.

Above all, he is up against one of the country's most colorful and rugged campaigners—a politico who throws a lot of punches and doesn't care much how low they land.

John's Disease Indemnity

—by H. G. Heller

The State Agriculture Department reports that dairy and beef farmers in Pennsylvania will be paid indemnities for cattle found to be infected with John's disease (paratuberculosis).

Retrospective Dr. William L. Henning, agriculture secretary, in an official proclamation said the indemnity payments would be retroactive to Aug. 10.

Federal officials of the U. S. Agriculture Department said federal indemnities also would be paid on cattle destroyed because of the disease.

Same As TB Payments State and federal indemnities will be the same as for cattle destroyed under the tuberculin and brucellosis eradication programs.

The state payments are a maximum of $32.50 per head of grade cattle and $50 per head of purebred cattle.

The federal payments are $25 for grade animals and $50 for purebred cattle.

Called Infections

John's disease is a form of tuberculosis. It was proclaimed in 1948 as "an infectious disease of transmissible character."

Relatively few cases were reported in the state until 1952 when nine animals were found to have the disease, Dr. Henning said.

The next year there were 11 reactors and last year the total was 13.

Proposed Plan

Indemnities will be paid only after written authority to conduct a Johnin test has been obtained by an accredited veterinarian from the Pennsylvania or United States Departments of Agriculture and the animals give a positive reaction to the test.

Deiley Thanks Citizens For Relief Duties

WIND GAP—Chief Burgess Milton Deiley expressed his thanks yesterday to the local Civil Defense unit and the citizens of Wind Gap for their untiring efforts in easing the suffering of flood victims.

Mr. Deiley mentioned a few of the services performed by the unit. Among these were the evacuation of people and material from the Portland area; rescue and police detail in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg; pumping crews in Freemansburg; police squads in Easton and road blocks in Wind Gap.

A total of four thousand man hours were spent by Wind Gap residents in direct connection with flood relief. Uniting with the CD forces were the fire company, the Ladies Auxiliary, the Boy Scouts, and other local groups. School bus operators, trucking companies and local manufacturing plants and business men all freely donated their equipment and men.

One local company set aside a truck with two men to be used for any purpose the Civil Defense unit saw fit. It was at their service for the duration of the emergency. Many of the men were on continuous duty for more than 40 hours without any rest. Within the first two days of the disaster, five truck loads of clothes and two truck loads of food were dispatched to the Stroudsburgs, all donated by local residents.

Russians Trying To Start Negotiations On German Reunification Outside Pacts

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

The Moscow conference on Russian-German relations has developed not only along unpromising but also along unconventional lines.

The Russians are talking about establishing diplomatic relations not only without a peace treaty, as did the Western Allies, but also without prior settlement of major issues, which the Allies did negotiate.

The Russians also are trying to start formal international negotiations on German reunification with both West and East Germany, outside the framework of German-Allied agreements.

Twin Objectives

This attitude seems to involve two objectives — to work on that bloc of German opinion which would give almost anything, including neutralization, for reunification, and to get recognition from Bonn of the East German puppet government.

Actually, the Russian approach, if effective, would tend to formalize the division of Germany rather than end it.

Spring Cycle Returns To Pike Village

PANTHER—The cycle of "returning Spring" continued yesterday in this Pike County community.

Apple trees began blooming again. Most of the trees had already blossomed before and borne their season's fruits.

At the Russell Van Buskirk home Mrs. Norma Van Buskirk, Russell's mother, has picked four or five bouquets of partly-bloomed apple blossoms, then brought them to full bloom in water.

Mrs. Van Buskirk says that in all her 83 Septembers she's never seen anything like it before.

The German approach is an attempt to regularize the whole situation, wrapping the whole relationship into a package as the Allies did with her.

Strategy Is Clear

Chancellor Adenauer apparently realizes that if Russia could establish diplomatic relations with Bonn separately from those with the Eastern puppets the stage would be set for a long tug of war for supremacy between them.

He also realizes that, with such a relationship established, Russia could negotiate and negotiate without ever coming across on reunification.

Against this background, the conference apparently is getting nowhere. Adenauer, like his Western associates, seeks action, while Russia seeks to put up a facade of cooperation.

It is true that the tenor of the German-Russian talks may have been influenced by a revelation of Western thinking about Russian security. Reports from Washington and London have it that a big new security pact will be offered by the Allies to offset Russian fears of a reunified Germany. If those fears are real. If the expressed fear is merely a pretense, then such an offer might bring the Reds around to a more realistic bargaining position.

Speculate on Intentions

Russia may have had the idea of approaching the Foreign Ministers meeting in Geneva next month with the same sort of gestures toward Germany which she used in Austria prior to the Big Four meeting. Now she may wish to freeze everything until she sees what the Allies are really up to.

Miss McCain Is Bride Of W. R. Williams

Miss Patricia Jane McCain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McCain, of 415 Shook Avenue, became the bride of Wilton Roy Williams Jr., son of Wilton R. Williams, and the late Laura Bender Williams of Skytop, on Saturday afternoon, September 10, at 2 o'clock.

The wedding was performed before the candle-lit altar of the the Canadensis Moravian Church, Canadensis, by Rev. John H. Hoeman, of Canadensis, and Rev. Elmer Bender, of Egg Harbor City, N. J., in the presence of a large group of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Mary Garris was organist and played a medley of nuptial melodies prior to the ceremony. William P. Serfass sang "No Other Love" from Chopin's Etude in E Major, "Because," by Guy d'Hardelot, and during the ceremony, Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer," as the bride couple knelt before the altar on a white satin kneeling bench, during the final prayer.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white candle-light satin, under white nylon, with gold figures. The gown was fashioned by the bride's mother, with puffed sleeves, scoop neckline, an empire waistline, and a bouffant skirt. Her cap was of white satin, covered with golden-figured white nylon, and satin streamers. She carried a white Nurse's Testament, with white orchids, and a shower of white delphinium.

Miss Barbara Ann Dickinson, of Pottstown and Philadelphia, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of aqua nylon with black dots, over an aqua taffeta slip, with black accessories.

Miss Mary Ann Lins, of Stamford, Conn., and Philadelphia, and Mrs. Betty Williams, of Skytop, were bridesmaids. They wore pink nylon gowns with black dots, over pink taffeta slips, with black accessories. All the attendants carried colonial bouquets.

Paul Williams, of Skytop, brother of the bridegroom, and Thomas M. McCain, of Stroudsburg, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Ralph Williams, of Skytop, served as his brother's best man. The bride's mother wore a street-length dress of navy blue nylon crepe, with turquoise accessories, and wore a corsage of sweetheart and pinocchio roses.

Immediately after the ceremony a private reception was held for the wedding party and the immediate families at the bride's home. A four-tiered wedding cake formed the centerpiece for the bride's table.

The bride, a graduate of Stroudsburg High School in the class of 1952, attended Hahnemann Hospital School of Nursing in Philadelphia. The bridegroom, a graduate of Barrett High School in the class of 1948, served two years in the U. S. Army, during which time he saw action in Korea. He is presently employed at Skytop Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams are now on a wedding tour through New York state, to Niagara Falls, and to New Jersey. For traveling the bride chose a navy blue linen suit with white accessories and an orchid corsage. They will make their home in Canadensis.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

What scent is most popular this Fall with smart women in other parts of the World, I don't know. I do know what the all-prevailing odor is about the smart women in the Stroudsburgs these days. It's clover. You can't escape it, you can't conceal it, you can't drown it out.

However, it's rather like a badge of honor—to be worn proudly, because it signifies hours of washing dishes at the feeding stations, sorting clothes, salvaging furniture, or trudging around in the disaster areas.

For the women who have been stationed at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church, however, yesterday was closing-up day. The dispensary items were being packed away, the coats had been dismantled and folded up, the kitchen was being scoured and cleaned up for the last time.

Upstairs, however, the Sunday assembly hall was still filled with clothing, and the smell of clover. The feeding station, however, is still open at the Presbyterian church and there spaghetti sort of over-lay the clover smell.

Disaster has an odor, the clinging smell of mud, decay, rotting food and death. So has recovery, and if clover isn't our favorite perfume, it's infinitely preferable. The day may come when we'll smell again of bubble bath. And then we'll know that we're really going places again.

Miss Hamblin To Be Bride On Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. J. Burton Hamblin announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Audrey Maxine, to Henry F. Heise, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Heise of Long Island, New York.

Although no formal invitations have been sent, all friends and relatives are invited to attend the ceremony.

The president Celia Sipthoth presided at the meeting. A report of the welfare chairman, Hattie Frantz, showed that flowers had been sent to Bert Saylor as a baby gift, and a spray for the funeral of Martha J. Sommers, who was a flood victim.

Memorial services were held for Mrs. Sommers, a member of the auxiliary.

The reports of the convention held in July at Scranton were given by the delegates, Margaret Mosher, Christina Haas and Joyce Houser. They reported that Mrs. Vanda Haas was elected national vice president at large.

For the local auxiliary Ethel McCarrick was elected as secretary for the coming year and Jennie Sipthoth as first vice president because of the resignation of the secretary-elect. Installation of officers will be held the third Sunday in November.

Mrs. Margaret Reid and Mrs. Helen Penimore, past national eastern vice president of Philadelphia were both guests at the meeting. Mrs. Leola Anderson, national president, stopped in after the meeting.

It was announced that on September 18 Alfred Frymer Post 52 of Bethlehem will hold installation of officers to which members of the local auxiliary are invited. On October 2 the national auxiliary will hold its executive board meeting in Harrisburg at the American Legion Home.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Ten fortunate people will have the opportunity to make beautiful music, when—sometime after midnight on October 15th—they are proclaimed winners of the Baldwin Piano Company's nationwide contest for fifty pungent words or less on why they would like to own an Organo-Sonic Spinnet Organ. The amazing thing about this contest is that a winner receives two organs . . . one for him-or-herself, and one for the school or church dearest to his heart.

I know what you're thinking almost as though your mind were lucite and I had a telescope. You're thinking, "Gee that's terrific—but contests are the bunk. There are thousands of 'em every year, and who are the winners?" A lot of people whose names are just so much small print in a magazine ad—people of whom nobody ever heard."

Well, it seems that way sometimes—but don't you believe it. I for one know better, because lightning struck my small world one glorious day and I was the proud owner of a beautiful upright electric freewheeling—since the word was coined in pineapple and since it was richly green throughout, my brain storm had been "Pineapple Enemaude"—the French word having been suggested by a Coty perfume. It didn't take any touch of genius to produce this name . . . but I could see that it might look very worldly and appetizing on a hotel menu. The judges apparently agreed.

And so it could be with you. Maybe you can't immediately tell in fifty words or less why you would like to own a Baldwin spinnet organ. But it's worth thinking about. If you love music . . . if you feel that melody old and new would bring a richer, friendlier, lovelier atmosphere into your home . . . if you feel that learning to play, or developing a long-neglected talent might add a new dimension to your life . . . play around with the idea and boil it down into the words any other man or woman reading your story could appreciate. Then send it in and maybe the judges will find that you above all others deserve the prize.

Before you write anything, come in and see the Baldwin Organo-Sonic spinnet. Hear Ernie Michelfelder play it. Sit down yourself and touch the keys . . . hear the resonance. Dream a bit. Picture yourself as the owner . . . and the donor of a wonderful instrument such as this to your church or child's school. Then ask for a free entry blank. Whether you win or not, you'll have lost nothing. You may even have found the way to a fuller, richer life that could be achieved with small sacrifice on a limited budget. It's worth the gamble.

RILEY

JACK CUTLER, one of the most popular golf pros to ever swing a club in this area, registered a hole-in-one on the 18th hole at Pocono Manor, his home club, last week. It was the fifth ace at the local course for the veteran campaigner. He used a six iron to do the damage on the 168-yard hole. Jack previously had registered three aces on the third hole and one on the famous number seven, a 77-yard affair that drives both the professional and amateur crazy.

Gene Sarazen, grand old campaigner in the pro golf world, shot a two under par 70 at Shawnee on Saturday. He was honored the previous night with the Fred Waring Sportsmanship Award. Sarazen played in a foursome with Waring, J. Woody Platt and Byron "Bud" Gould, the latter two of Philadelphia and Detroit, respectively. They all were knickers, the golfing garb made famous by Sarazen down through the years. Gould flew at least 30 golfers into Shawnee from the mid-west for the 10th annual Waite Memorial tournament which ended Saturday.

Ben Kish, former outstanding pro football back with the Philadelphia Eagles, visited Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame coach, at Shawnee last week. Kish, who once spoke at a local banquet, is now assistant football coach at Temple University. The Owls are training at Camp Sun Mountain, near Shawnee. Al Smith, assistant golf pro at Pocono Manor, is at his familiar stand on weekends, but spends the remainder of the week at his school teaching job at Darby High School.

Jim Kinsley and Ed Champney, former basketball stars at Coolbaugh High School, will enter East Stroudsburg State Teachers College next month. Dick "Pickles" Hinzte and Wallie Adelmann, former three-letter athlete at Stroudsburg High, departed for Pennsylvania Military College on Sunday. Each is hopeful of playing football this season. The golf shop at Shawnee Country Club will be completely changed around by next season. Bigger and better than ever—according to plans.

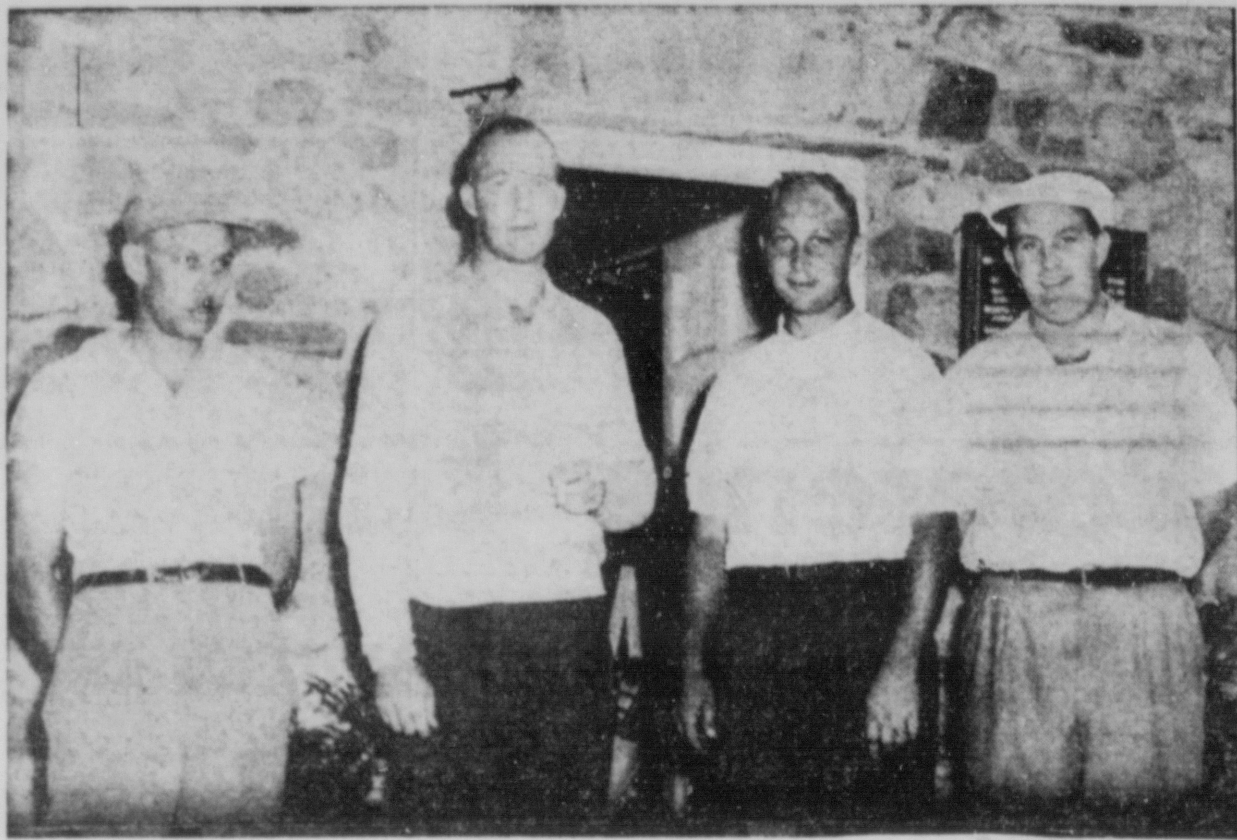

Joe Marione, who did such a grand job of putting the Eastburg Highlights and Festival of Celebrities show over the last year, is doing another grand job in Fred Waring's "Hear, Hear" show which was previewed to Shawnee guests in Delaware Water Gap last Saturday night. The show opened a road tour last night in Jamestown, N. Y., and will make its New York debut on Monday, September 26.

George Condric, former pitcher with the now defunct Stroudsburg Poconos and until recently a member of the St. Louis Cardinals' farm system, is now working for General Electric in Trenton. It is quite possible that a default will be called in the Glen Brook Country Club championship golf match if the remaining entries in the men's division can't get together on a time and date for the matches still to be played in the tournament.

Stroudsburg High School's football team looked good during an intra-squad scrimmage on Saturday. But, the Mountaineers, like the Cavaliers, have plenty of work to accomplish before the opening game on Friday night. The Mountaineers open against Lehigh, at Lehigh, while the Cavaliers will be at home against Slattington. Both squads must smooth out plenty of rough spots in their makeup before the starting whistle is sounded.

Bruce Frantz, Scotrun, and Stan "Chick" Roeder, Swiftwater, wound up with three baseballs and long conversations with Virgil "Fire" Trucks and Jim Rivera, both big names on the Chicago White Sox roster last Saturday. The two local lads were fortunate enough to meet Trucks and Rivera after Saturday's 9-8 victory scored by the Sox over the Yankees. John Kupiec, basketball coach at Stroudsburg High, has returned to this area after a summer as assistant golf pro near Boston.

It has been reported that Stroudsburg High has two new basketball candidates that may help the cause this winter. One is a transfer from Allentown Central Catholic, where he played on the junior varsity squad. The Bucknell University marching band is currently preparing for the coming football season at Pocono Manor. The band is spending a week at the local resort, where it goes through daily drills. Gary Guthrie, Stroudsburg back now on the sidelines with a fractured collarbone, is hopeful of being back in action by the third game of the season, which is against Palmerton.

Mountaineers Ready To Launch Football Season

STROUDSBURG HIGH School's maroon and white clad grid machine began tapering off for Friday's game with Lehigh on Saturday night at East Stroudsburg Junior High School, as the Mountaineers devoted much of the practice to pass defense.

Coach John Whitehead, preparing for his initial contest as head mentor at the W. Main St. school, announced last night that his squad has finished its pre-season scrimmages, but that the Mountaineers would continue two-day drills right up until Thursday afternoon.

Ironing out difficulties in plays and pass offense and defense will make up most of the practices for the remainder of the week, the former East Stroudsburg State Teachers College football star announced.

Whitehead has officially decided on a starting lineup for Friday night's class at Lehigh, but will be ready to name his front line troops following Thursday's afternoon drill.

Ron Stopp and Mark Newman are still splitting the quarterback chores, while Bob Phillips, Ron "Super" Phillips and Ronald Hallett are currently battling for the left half post. Co-Captain Don Hayes and Ed Gravel are dividing the right half assignment, while Bill Bolich, a freshman, and Jack Hallock, are now running out of the fullback slot.

Roger Lane and Gary Guthrie, a pair of highly rated fullbacks, are on the injured list.

Francis "Fritz" Hasara and Doug Shook are expected to open as the offensive ends, while Miles Kirkhuff and Jim Wallace man the tackle posts. The guard diggings will be handled by either Co-Captain Phil Newman, Don Stopp or Bob Kasay. Ken Barthold and Larry Buzzard will divide the center chores.

Doug Nichols and Ronnie Ejdys have also impressed Whitehead as ends and Bob Armitage and Jerry Simanek will see plenty of action at the tackle posts.

Friday's kickoff is slated for 8 p.m. under the Lehigh lights.

Midiri, Dudas Land Positions In Daily News Golf Tourney

PENNSAUKEN, N.J. — Tony Midiri, Glen Brook Country Club, and Stan Dudas, Shawnee-on-Delaware, will be among the field of 120 golfers who tee off in the $20,000 Philadelphia Daily News golf tournament here at Iron Rock Park Country Club on Thursday.

Dudas is an automatic qualifier for the tournament as he recently won the Philadelphia PGA title, while Midiri made the grade by firing a 74 over this 70-par course yesterday.

Willie Hunter, California, won medalist honors by shooting a 65 over the wind-swept course that tried the skill and patience of most of the pros in the field.

Colts Return Signal Caller

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts announced tonight that quarterback Jack Scarbath, former University of Maryland grid star, is being returned to the Washington Redskins.

Under the deal between the two National Football League teams, the Redskins were to get a draft choice from the Colts if Baltimore had elected to keep Scarbath.

Decision
The decision to let Scarbath go was apparently based on Colt Coach Webb Ewbank's reluctance to give the Redskins the undisclosed draft choice.

Local Dogs Capture Honors

EFFORT—Two Monroe County kennels placed in the American Shetland Sheep Dog Specialty Show held in conjunction with the West Chester Kennel Club Show, in Rye, N. Y., on Sunday. There were 77 entries in the specialty show.

Astolat Star of Cloud Crest, the property of Cloud Crest Kennels, Munt Pocono, was first in the puppy class, while Astolat Golden Symbol, of the Astolat Kennels, located here, placed third in the puppy class.

Laurels
Golden Symbol was also first in the bred by exhibitors class and captured winners and best opposite sex in the recent Mid-Hudson Kennel Club Show in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Astolat's Golden Farthing of Fawnbrook was reserve winner in the same show.

Logart Shows Speed In Nod Over Wilson

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Isaac Logart, a fine, 22-year-old welterweight prospect from Cuba, outsped and outpunched Al Sugar Wilson of Englewood, N. J., tonight to win a unanimous 10-round decision at St. Nicholas Arena. Logart weighed 145½, Wilson 147.

The youngster from Kid Gavilan's home town looked a lot like The Kid in his younger days, as he came on strong in the second half of the telecast scrap.

Scoring
The officials had Logart ahead by the following round scores: Referee Pete Della 6-3-1, Judge Harold Barnes 9-1 and Judge Al Singer, the former lightweight champion, 8-2. The AP card had Logart in front 7-3.

Suggs Wins Open Tourney

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., won the $5,000 St. Louis Women's Open golf tournament today by shooting her fourth successive sub-par round.

The 32-year-old Miss Suggs finished the 72-hole medal play tournament at Norwood Hills Country Club with a total of 289, 11 under par. Her score for the par 75 course was 71-72-74-72.

Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., the first day leader, had a final round 76 for a total of 296 and third money of $450.

Pirates Club Cardinals In Final Meeting

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—The last-place Pittsburgh Pirates took a consolation prize tonight, a 9-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the final game of the season between the National League's tag-end clubs.

Lino Donoso held the Cards to six hits, taking his fourth victory of the season, three over the Redbirds. The Cardinals took the season's play, however, 12 games to 10.

Pittsburgh's Dale Long broke up a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning when he homered against losing pitcher Harvey Haddix with two mates, who had walked on base. Long led the Pirate attack with four runs batted in, and two runs scored on a 3-for-3 night.

Musial
Cardinal moments against left-hander Donoso were confined almost entirely to Stan Musial's efforts. Musial hit bases-empty home runs in the sixth and eighth innings, bringing his total for the year to 30.

Musial's first home run also was his 100th run batted in for the season. It is the eighth year Musial has batted in 100 or more runs during his home-leader career. The National League record in this department is nine seasons of 100 or more RBIs, and it is held by Mel Ott.

Pittsburgh's victory leaves the Pirates four and one-half games behind the seventh place Cardinals.

Commission Calls Pilots
SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP)—Anthony Ferrente and Carmen Graziano, co-managers of lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith, today were ordered to appear before the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission to show cause why their licenses should not be suspended or revoked.

The two Philadelphiaans, who also manage middleweight Joey Giardello, now serving a jail sentence for a gas station brawl, were cited by the commission for actions detrimental to boxing.

Reason
Ferrente and Graziano were instructed to appear before the commission Sept. 22, in Philadelphia. Commission Chairman James Crowley said the two were cited specifically with associating with undesirable persons.

Williams Fan Draws Fine
BOSTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—"It was worth it," said Charles A. Kwedor, 20, of Cambridge as he paid a $25 fine in district court today for shaking the hand of Red Sox slugger Ted Williams.

The hand-shaking occurred during the Boston-Cleveland game last Saturday when Kwedor and a companion sprinted from the stands onto the field to shake hands with Williams.

Kwedor's companion got away. Kwedor, who was nabbed by park attendants, was charged with disturbing an assembly.

Three Favorites Bow In Amateur

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 12 (AP)—The ever-exciting Billy Joe Patton and two former champions, Charlie Coe and Dick Chapman, fell today in a cascade of upsets opening the 55th National Amateur Golf Tournament.

Patton, twice apparently beaten, staged another of his scrambling finishes in a desperate bid to stay alive but missed a 28-inch putt on the 23rd hole, losing to George McCallister, 45-year-old real estate dealer from Los Angeles.

Steelers Lose Star Punter With Injury
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12 (AP)—Pat Brady, star punter for the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, will be out of action for at least six weeks and possibly for the entire season due to a foot injury, the club announced today.

Brady, a left-footed kicker, ruptured the Achilles tendon in his kicking foot yesterday while reaching for a high pass from center in an exhibition game here with the Philadelphia Eagles. He will be operated on Wednesday morning at Mercy Hospital.

Top Marks
Brady led the league the past two seasons in average punting yardage—booting the pigskin an average of 46.9 yards in 80 kicks in 1953 and 43.2 yards in 66 kicks in 1954.

The Steelers said the punting chores now will be split between two rookies—quarterback Vic Eaton, a University of Missouri star, and end Ed Bennett, former Southern Methodist player.

Meanwhile, the Steelers negotiated an "if" trade with the Chicago Bears. The Steelers are giving up an undisclosed draft choice for defensive end Joe O'Malley, provided he is good enough to be retained on the Steeler squad. O'Malley, a resident of Scranton, Pa., formerly played for the University of Georgia.

Pressure
Bill Campbell, the tall Walker Cup captain from Huntington, Va., was one down at the turn but applied the pressure to beat Davis (Spec) Goldman of Dallas, runner-up to Little in 1934, by the margin of 3 and 2.

Bob Sweeney, former British amateur champion who was runner-up to Arnold Palmer in last year's event, coasted to a 7 and 6 triumph over Tom Pritchard of Washington, D. C. The Southampton, N. Y., socialite was even par for the 12 holes.

Jim McIlale, former Walker Cupper from Wynnewood, Pa., won over John McKey, Orlando, Fla., pediatrician, 3 and 2.

Commission Calls Pilots
SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP)—Anthony Ferrente and Carmen Graziano, co-managers of lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith, today were ordered to appear before the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission to show cause why their licenses should not be suspended or revoked.

The two Philadelphiaans, who also manage middleweight Joey Giardello, now serving a jail sentence for a gas station brawl, were cited by the commission for actions detrimental to boxing.

Reason
Ferrente and Graziano were instructed to appear before the commission Sept. 22, in Philadelphia. Commission Chairman James Crowley said the two were cited specifically with associating with undesirable persons.

'Babe' Forms Fund For Cancer Exams

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 12 (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias today established a fund for cancer detection among the needy and said she hopes to resume tournament golf play in January.

The champion woman golfer is to leave Wednesday for her Tampa, Fla., home after a 3½ month hospital stay during her second battle with cancer.

"I'm well again and am sure I am going to be able to play more golf," she told a press conference at the University of Texas Medical Branch's John Sealy Hospital.

"I think I'll be able to start practicing around Jan. 1 and hope to defend my title in the $5,000 Tampa Women's Open the latter part of January."

Major Action
Babe said she will compete only in major tournaments next year. "I'm eyeing the National Women's Open. I didn't get a chance to defend my title this year," she added.

A bit weak from her long stay, Babe had a big smile as she entered a hospital sun porch for announcement of establishment of the Babe Didrikson Zaharias Cancer Fund.

"It will be a nationwide fund to help the needy people who are not able to pay to find out if they have cancer," she explained.

The fund's first project will be a tumor clinic at the Galveston Medical Branch. As the fund grows it will expand to include other areas of the country.

Babe first was stricken with cancer in 1933 but resumed tournament competition in August 1954 after surgery in Beaumont, Tex., her home town.

Broken Virus Rebuilt; May Help Science

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—Scientists today reported apparent success in putting a broken virus back together again, and finding it capable of causing infection.

It is a "Humpty-Dumpty" feat of potentially great significance in disease control and understanding some mysteries of inheritance.

For it might become possible to create new, desirable kinds of viruses, building them from parts of two other kinds.

One possibility could be less virulent strains of viruses for vaccines, as in polio vaccine. Or viruses tailored to kill cancer cells without harming the human body.

The virus work was described to the American Chemical Society by Drs. Barry Commoner, Eddie Basler, Jr., and Tung-yue Wang and James A. Lippincott, Washington University, St. Louis.

London's Limehouse district got its name in the 17th century from a lime making plant or limehouse located there, says the National Geographic Society.

If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6 add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

43,000 Westinghouse Workers Stage Strike To Press Protest Against Job Time Study

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12 (AP)—Some 43,000 union workers struck 27 Westinghouse plants in nine states today. Management and the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers made another attempt to settle the walkout.

James B. Carey, international union president, and Robert D. Blasler, Westinghouse vice president, accompanied by their counsel, resumed peace talks at 2 p.m. EDT after a 12-hour recess. They declined to comment.

Sympathy Walkout
The talks recessed shortly after 6 p.m. and resumed again later tonight.

The workers struck last midnight in sympathy with a 36-day strike by 2,200 members at the firm's big East Pittsburgh plant. Production was not halted completely at some plants where other unions have representation.

The East Pittsburgh workers struck Aug. 8, protesting company plans for a time study of their jobs. Another 6,000 were furloughed and 1,000 more failed to report today.

75,000 Commuters Victims Of Book-Of-Rules Slowdown

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Disgruntled Long Island Railroad trainmen forced a book-of-rules slowdown on 75,000 commuting trains today, but called it off in time for the evening rush hour.

During the four-hour morning rush hour period, 190 trains on the world's busiest commuter line were an hour or more late getting to New York.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said its members were merely following the Long Island's own book of rules. The railroad called it a slowdown and part of a "war of nerves."

Employment Demand
A strike threat has been hanging over the railroad for weeks. The line's 1,500 trainmen want more pay, a shorter work day, better working conditions, fringe benefits, and settlement of 250 long-standing grievances.

Cause of the slowdown was this: A new one-car train service was inaugurated on a branch line. It involved 35 schedule changes. The railroad's rules say the trainmen must paste slips of paper into their timetables, noting these changes. They can do this on company time.

Takes 35 Minutes
They did. A union official said it took them 35 to 40 minutes to paste in the slips.

By that time all the trains on the branch line were late and the effects began to spread through most of the rest of the railroad's sprawling Long Island network.

Senators Open Preparedness Investigation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—An intensive investigation of this nation's military preparedness, with emphasis on the "size and composition" of the Air Force, is under way by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, it was disclosed today.

The scope of the inquiry, which has been proceeding quietly for several months and includes profits made by aircraft manufacturers holding defense contracts, was outlined in a factual report by the subcommittee to its parent Armed Services Committee.

The subcommittee, headed by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, confined the report to a bare recital of profits made since 1942 by 21 major aircraft companies which turn out the bulk of aircraft for the military. It deliberately avoided drawing any conclusions at this time.

Just Bare Facts
Johnson said in an accompanying statement: "... obviously, we cannot make an objective report on America's military strength unless we have a full appreciation of the economic factors behind that strength... we thought the public should have the benefit of the cold facts now."

The senator, now resting at his ranch in Texas, said the subcommittee inquiry will seek detailed information on the "size and composition" of the Air Force in terms of present realities and future programming, including the status of revolutionary new guided missile and rocket programs.

Rassia Tells Solons Trade Not Vital

MOSCOW, Sept. 12 (AP)—Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev told five visiting U. S. senators today American-Soviet trade relations are possible and desirable. But he insisted such trade is not vital to Russia.

The Americans who met for an hour and 45 minutes in the Kremlin with Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin are Sens. Milton R. Young (R-ND), Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), Henry C. Dworshak (R-Idaho), J. Allen Frear Jr. (D-Del), and George W. Malone (R-Nev).

Kefauver asked if the Russians would sell manganese, needed in steel making, to the United States. The Russians replied:

"Yes, you want to buy our manganese—and then sell us toys."

The senators said the Russians are interested in buying machinery and especially machine tools from the United States. The Soviets were one of America's biggest customers for such products in the 1930s, but the present U. S. ban on selling strategic goods to Communist countries has greatly changed the previous trade patterns.

Farmers Back Sales Tax
The tax, first proposed by the governor last April and never presented to the Legislature, would be at the rate of a cent for each 1,000 cubic feet of gas stored.

On another front, three farm groups circulated a letter among the legislators asking them and the governor to impose a sales tax to solve the commonwealth's tax woes.

The groups were the Pennsylvania State Council of Farm Organizations, Pennsylvania State Grange and the Pennsylvania Assn. of Farmer Cooperatives.

They didn't specify a rate but said the Ohio system of issuing stamps as a receipt for the sales tax was the best way of collecting the levy.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1955
March 21 to April 20 (Aries). This is one of those periods when the old adage: "the better the deed the better the day" is strongly pertinent. You should find many fresh opportunities and leads; could consolidate previous gains.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus).—Some restrictive influences; some very suspicious ones. The latter encourages familiar matters, work and other affairs for which you have training, knowledge. Use care in spending; avoid debt.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini).—You can achieve best results if you restrict yourself to essentials. Plan your schedule for the week wisely and check where you can improve. Sound judgment stressed.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer).—Don't daily or put off urgent tasks but do take time to study problems and propositions to be solved and managed. There will be no need to retrace your steps or make needless errors if you think them out.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo).—Do not neglect your obligations. Some matters may need extra attention, more effort; other affairs will glide along almost on their own. YOUR management counts.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo).—Problematic, even the difficult ones, can be worked out satisfactorily if you remain poised and are not too anxious for immediate results or solutions. It is a better period than you may think.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra).—Think, then act. Do not act upon impulse even though you feel intuition is guiding you. You could be inspired by prejudice—NOT reason. So THINK!

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio).—This could be a progressive day but it will be important to put forth your best efforts. Don't be haphazard and do anything; calm and thoughtful judgment will be needed.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius).—Splendid indications for mental work, study, teaching, research, science, chemistry, invention, and save labor, improve conditions. Good rays on the whole. January 21 (Capricorn).—This can be a satisfactory day, though not a spectacular one, perhaps. Routine affairs, activities you understand, smart selling and buying can advance notably.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius).—Stick to essentials, urgent duties, and matters pertinent to your family's welfare. Fine influences for travel by water, handling beverages, chemicals, medicines. You may have to work hard.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces).—Pleasant Neptune and encouraging Mercury rays make for an interesting, generous period if you really wish to achieve, well, but not overdo. You are helpful to others, talkative; you like intelligent associates.

PARIS, Sept. 12 (AP)—The French Cabinet tonight unanimously approved Premier Edgar Faure's plan for a settlement in troubled Morocco. It gives the North African protectorate a measure of home rule and allows the exiled former Sultan to return, at least to France.

The agreement was announced by Pierre July, minister for Tunisian and Moroccan affairs, after a 5½-hour Cabinet meeting. July read a communique which said the government decisions would be put into effect immediately.

'Quake Kills 18 Persons

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 12 (AP)—Eighteen persons perished and 52 suffered injury today in an earthquake which rocked the Nile Delta.

Ten of the dead were schoolgirls, trampled to death in a panic at their school in Cairo when the quake struck. Five persons were killed in Behera Province north of Cairo, two in Tanta, a town between Cairo and Alexandria, and a baby died at Kafr el Zayat, in the same area.

The quake lasted 50 seconds and was the fourth strong one to hit Cairo since 1847. Helwan Observatory reported. Its greatest force was felt northeast of this city.

A government communique reported all activities and public service were returned to normal throughout the quake area and that public assistance services were in operation in the affected towns.

The Interior Ministry said 15 buildings had been ruined in Cairo.

Adventists Distribute Flood Aid

OVER FIFTEEN hundred pieces of clothing and hundreds of other useful articles have been distributed to date as flood relief by the Dorcas Society of the Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist Church. It was reported yesterday by Mrs. Charles Loney, local Dorcas leader.

Despite the fact that the Stroudsburg SDA church was itself flooded and all the church's stored welfare supplies were ruined, the local congregation has accomplished a "prodigious amount of welfare work," said Pastor W. R. Bornstein. Supplies have been funneled here, he said, from other state and nearby societies.

At the present time the church is maintaining four places for storage of welfare goods in the twin boroughs, and anyone is invited to apply for free clothes, bedding, furniture and other articles. Interested persons are invited to telephone Mrs. Charles Loney at 3786-J.

Steel Shares And Motors In Demand

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—For the fifth straight time, the stock market today edged into new high ground.

Steels, motors, and many individual issues provided the strength for today's move upward. A goodly number of minus signs provided a heavy brake on the rise.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 20 cents at $178.30. Last Tuesday, in the opening session of the week after Labor Day, the average reached up strongly for its first new high since the reaction that started July 25. Since then it has been moving up in a hesitant manner.

Industrial Advance
The industrial component advanced 60 cents. The railroads were down 10 cents and utilities dropped back 20 cents.

There were 1,193 individual issues traded of which 504 advanced and 459 declined with 88 new highs and 8 new lows for the year.

Volume amounted to 2,520,000 shares, greatest since July 21. Friday's total was 2,480,000 shares. The Reynolds Metals "when issued" stock topped the most active list on 46,300 shares.

The American Stock Exchange was irregularly higher with volume good at 860,000 shares as compared with 750,000 traded Friday. Corporate bonds were higher while U. S. governments traded over the counter were lower.

Researchers Made Study Of Rare Earth Elements

By Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Once anyone who had an eye for the main chance went out and found himself a gold mine.

But in this strange and complicated age, our gold is buried in Fort Knox. And today government scientists are struggling to find out all they can about the likes of — take a deep breath here — praseodymium, holmium, dysprosium, gadolinium, lutetium and ytterbium.

Wonder Metals

Though most taxpayers couldn't pronounce them, much less know what they are, $250,000 in government money will be spent this year in research on these and other unpronounceable members of the rare earth elements.

Bureau of Mines officials take an optimistic view of the stuff. "May well be the wonder metals of the future," they say.

Still, don't count too heavily on, say, any Ytterbium rush comparable to the gold rush of 100 years ago or the Uranium rush of today.

For one thing, although the rare earths are closely related chemically and are often used together, no use whatsoever has been found for nine of the elements.

For another, they're expensive to extract from the sands in which they are found.

Expensive To Extract

But in one form or another, the rare earths already are used in familiar enough products: military searchlights, motion picture projectors, as a waterproofing agent and in a medicine for seasickness.

Why couldn't these elements be given a simple name, like iron or copper or zinc or tin?

Well, the Bureau of Mines re-

Commission Field Workers Fete Williams

B. K. WILLIAMS, member of the Pennsylvania Game Commission for the past 12 years, was given a "farewell" party by the field force of Northeastern Division, Game Commission, personnel with C. Elwood Huffman, Marshalls Creek, his successor, participating.

The affair was held at the Williams cabin in Devil's Hole game lands area with some 150 persons, including wives of field personnel and guests attending.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Williams were presented with gifts on behalf of the Northeastern Division. Carl Stainbrook, supervisor of the division, made the presentations.

Mrs. Williams was presented with a clock and Mr. Williams a wrist watch.

In addition to Commissioner Huffman, Commissioner Andy Long and John McFowell of the commission attended with their wives.

Steve Emanuel, Wilkes-Barre, first vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen, represented the federation in ceremonies honoring Mr. Williams for his service to sportsmen.

ports the naming isn't quite as fantastic as it might seem.

Ytterbium, for example, was named for Ytterby, a Swedish village near which the minerals first were found. Holmium was named for Stockholm. Lutetium is named for Lutetia, an ancient name for Paris. Dysprosium has the most apt name of all; it's from a Greek word meaning "difficult of access."
